REJECT MRS. HALL'S DEMAND TO FACE MURDER GRAND JURY

SIX GREEK EX-MINISTERS EXECUTED FOR TREASON IN LOSING WAR WITH TURKEY

Members of Constantinian Cabinet Found Guilty by Court Martial.

KING IS EXONERATED.
Admiral Goudas and Gen. Stratigos Are Given Life Imprisonment.

ATHENS, Nov. 28 (United Press).—Six members of the Greek Cabinet that fell when King Constantine abdicated were executed here to-day. They were shot by a firing squad.

The Ministers were condemned by a Military Court which investigated the recent Greek defeat in the war with Turkey, and were accused of being responsible for the Greek collapse.

ATHENS, Nov. 28 (Associated Press).—The six former Cabinet Officers and army officials convicted of high treason in connection with the Greek military disaster in Asia Minor were executed to-day, by shooting. They were:

Former Premier Gounaris, Protopadakis and Stratigos; M. Thodorakis, former War Minister, Mr. Baltazas, holder of portfolios in several former Cabinets, and Gen. Hadjaneastis, Commander of the Greek forces at the time of the Asia Minor military disaster.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The British Minister at Athens, F. O. Lindley, recently informed the Greek Government that if the prisoners were executed he would depart. Upon receipt of the news of the execution, the Foreign Office stated that Mr. Lindley had probably already left the capital. The action of the Greeks in the face of the British representations may bring serious results to their government.

The trial of several former Greek Ministers and military officials who were charged with high treason as the result of the army's recent defeat by the Turks, began on Nov. 13. The court martial was instituted by a decree of the Revolutionary Committee after an investigation by a special committee of inquiry had resulted in a report charging treason.

Former King Constantine was declared exempt from the charges on the ground that he was not responsible for any acts that led to the triumph of the Turkish army. It was decided that his Ministers must bear the full responsibility.

The accused men were permitted to testify in their own defense.

Alleged Bootleggers 'Convene' And Fork Over $317,500 Bail

Lawyers, Bodyguard and Retinue With 25 Men Who Plead Not Guilty to Federal Indictments.

There was quite a convention of alleged bootleggers in the Federal Building to-day when twenty-five members of that now popular profession appeared before District Judge Julian Mack to plead to indictments found against them by the Grand Jury last Thursday. Four of those named in the indictments failed to appear and warrants were issued for their arrest.

Each principal was accompanied either by a bodyguard or by a corps of assistants and mingling with them were numerous lawyers and bondsmen and representatives of bonding companies. A plea of not guilty was entered in each case and the court granted a delay of two weeks during which time changes of plea may be made or motions may be entered. The defendants had a happy and prosperous day, for every man of the 25 under indictment furnished bail and the Judge made the bail high.

CLEMENCEAU'S SECRET OF AGE AND VITALITY IS OUT—AND IT'S EGGS

EGGS FOR BREAKFAST, EIGHT EGGS FOR SUPPER—ORDERS FIVE FOR 5:30 A. M.

Clemenceau's secret of longevity, with a retention of vitality and endurance that would tax the energies of a man of half his eighty-one years, in eggs.

He ordered eight of them, soft boiled, for his supper last night, and ate them. Before retiring for the night he asked for five more soft boiled eggs for breakfast at 5:30 this morning.

FRENCH CABINET APPROVES PLAN TO SEIZE RHINELAND

Ready to Occupy Ruhr District on 24 Hours' Notice if Germany Defaults.

PARIS, Nov. 28 (Associated Press).—The intention of France to "pay" herself in Germany comes before a full meeting of the Cabinet to-day. A plan for direct action through the seizure of part of the Ruhr district and absolute control of the French section of the Rhineland, which was considered and approved at yesterday's meeting of military and civil authorities at the Elysee Palace, will be submitted for final approval.

There is no longer much faith here in any inter-allied solution of the reparations question, even though the Brussels conference is held.

Marshal Foch and Major Gen. Buat, the French chief-of-staff, are understood to have told President Millerand and Premier Poincaré at yesterday's meeting that a plan for expanding the military occupation of the right bank of the Rhine had been prepared with utmost care and that it could be executed within twenty-four hours' notice and M. Tirard, High Commissioner for the Rhineland, said that civil administration of the territory could be taken over immediately.

This program would be applicable only after Jan. 15, for Germany now has a moratorium until the end of December and the first payment under the existing scheme of reparations, now in suspension, would be due in the middle of January.

France is now ready "to go it alone."

HARDING AT LOSS WHAT TO DO WITH THE KU KLUX KLAN

Pressure From All Sides to Do Something—Daugherty Studying Laws.

AFFECTS DEMOCRATS.

Local Conditions Make Klansmen Strong in Southern Wing of Party.

By David Lawrence.
(Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (Copyright).—Prosecution of the Ku Klux Klan for alleged violations of the Federal penal code is under consideration at the Department of Justice. The letter of Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts, Democrat, has had the effect of promoting a search for precedents. President Harding is on record against the activities of secret organizations such as the Ku Klux Klan and there is no question about the administration's hostility to the movement as practiced. The only question is as to the power of the Federal Government to cope with the matter.

Prospective of the decision reached by the Administration, enough has happened already to indicate that no more embarrassing question has been injected in American politics than that of the Ku Klux Klan. Politicians of both parties agree that ultimately it will have far-reaching consequences on party alignments in different parts of the country.

Bravely speaking, the Democratic party is picked to suffer most from the issue. The Ku Klux Klan is strongest in the South, where the movement aims to a large extent at the suppression of the Negro's aspirations toward social and political equality.

While it is true the Democratic Party in the South is divided on the question, the chances are that the strongest support for the Ku Klux Klan will continue to come from the South. The Northern Democrats, on the other hand, will be confronted with the problem of aligning themselves for or against the Ku Klux Klan, and men like Senator Walsh and others.

LOUISIANA KU KLUX INVITES GOVERNOR TO INITIATION OF 2,000

Klan Strews Pamphlets on Lawn of Executive Who Has Been Frightened by the Order.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28.—During the night members of the Ku Klux Klan littered the lawn of Gov. Parker's mansion with literature advertising a Klan initiation meeting here Thursday night at which, it is claimed, 2,000 new members will be sworn in.

Included in the advertising matter were invitations to the Governor, who is opposed to the Klan and has consistently fought it, to attend the initiation.

ARMY PONY BLIMP MAKES 450 MILES IN TEN HOURS

Sets American Record in Flight to Belleville, Ill.

BELEVILLE, Ill., Nov. 28 (Associated Press).—A record American flight for a pony blimp was made yesterday when the small dirigible of Scott Field, the Government's lighter-than-air station, near Joplin, traversed 450 miles from the field to Belleville, Ala. in ten hours, army officers announced to-day.

The blimp is the only one of its kind in the army and its normal flight distance is 150 miles. It was explained, "Three men were aboard: First Lieut. U. A. Anderson, the pilot, took the blimp aloft at 11 A. M. for an ordinary flight, not expecting to go out of sight of the field. He encountered a heavy windstorm, however, and decided to try for a record, realizing he could not return to the hangar in the gale. He shut off the motor and let the too-top cigar shaped bag ride with the wind.

BOTH SIDES AGREE TO SETTLE WAR IN BUILDING TRADES

Lockout and Strikes Called Off Under Permanent Agreement Terms.

RIVAL UNIONS MERGE.

Peace Forced by Lockwood Committee Seen as Notable Achievement.

The lockout order of the Masons and Builders' Association, which would have tied up all building operations in this city, including a part of Long Island, and thrown 125,000 men out of work to-morrow, has been rescinded through the efforts of the Lockwood Housing Committee, and the striking bricklayers have been ordered to return to the eight jobs they deserted.

The Lockwood Housing Committee, in the closing days of the majority of its members, has performed a notable achievement, and the members, with its voluntary counsel, Samuel Untermyer, worked through the better part of last night to accomplish its task.

Chairman Lockwood said, after adjournment of the committee for two weeks, that outside of the benefit to the general public, the agreement which had been forced upon the contending sides meant a saving to labor of $7,500,000 for the next thirty days. The throwing out of employment of 125,000 meant the suffering of 625,000 persons, counting five to a family, for the majority of those interested are married men, he pointed out.

While the effect of the agreement is a truce until Dec. 31, it means, in reality, a permanent settlement of labor difficulties. Both sides agreed to the appointment of a board of arbitration, in whose hands the whole matter will rest, Chairman Lockwood and Samuel Untermyer being part of the arbitration board.

It is agreed that the International Hod Carriers and Independent Hod Carriers' unions will be merged into one union. The strike in the building trades was caused by the disagreement between the two unions, the independents being a separate union, not affiliated with any other labor organization, while the international is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

It was claimed that the independents were resorting to unfair means to take away members of the international and force them into their union, and that the Masons and Builders' Association was behind the movement. This was the reason given for the strike of the bricklayers on eight buildings, which was met by the lockout order, being up all building operations.

Both sides were called into conference with the Lockwood Committee and its counsel, separately, before the committee met this morning. Each agreed to the proposition put to them by Mr. Untermyer, at night, contingent on the other side agreeing out its part of the agreement immediately.

Then each member to the agreement was put on the stand, under a waiver of immunity, and his promise made a matter of record. They were Giovanni B. Dioguardi, President of the Independent Hodcarriers; Paul A.

ALFRED E. LINDSAY GIVEN FIVE-YEAR TERM IN SING SING

Broker Who Duped Women Out of $500,000 Nearly Faints at Sentence.

MUST DO HARD LABOR.

Passed as Morgan Associate—Mrs. Lillian B. Duke Among Victims.

Alfred E. Lindsay, the broker with an elaborate home in South Nyack, who defrauded a number of women prominent in society out of more than half a million dollars by representing himself as a confidant of J. P. Morgan and other Wall Street men, was to-day sentenced to serve from five to ten years at hard labor in Sing Sing Prison.

Judge Mancuso of General Sessions, who sentenced Lindsay on his plea of guilt to one of nine indictments, not only scored the prisoner for preying upon women, but surprised him with the prison term, because Lindsay had believed sentence would be suspended. He almost collapsed after Judge Mancuso added the hard labor stipulation to the prison term, his face going deathly white. He will be taken to Sing Sing late this afternoon.

In his spectacular and profitable career as a swindler, which began in 1908, Lindsay represented himself as a member of the "Domino Club," an organization which, as he told his women dupes, was made up of prominent men in Wall Street who met in masks at various hotels, and discussed market movements. In this way, he said, he was able to get "inside information" about prospective financial deals, which he assured his victims would be highly profitable to him should they let him invest money in them.

Lindsay pleaded guilty to the frauds last March and has been in the Tombs Prison since June. He is fifty years old, a florid full-blooded type and possessed of an ingratiating manner which went easily with the women he victimized.

Before sentencing Lindsay, Judge Mancuso called to the stand to-day Mrs. W. H. Arnold of No. 152 West 74th Street, complainant in the indictment to which the prisoner pleaded guilty. She repeated her former statements about meeting Lindsay through Miss Florence James of No. 22 East 89th Street, a relative of the Harrimans, and giving him $29,650 for investment. She never received a penny in return, she said. When the court asked her if it should be merciful, she replied that all she wanted was her money back.

Miss Margaret Bogert of No. 311 West 47th Street, another victim, was also questioned by the court. She met Lindsay through Dr. Knute Arvid Enlid, an associate of Lindsay's, who is in the Tombs awaiting sentence to-morrow for receiving stolen property in his transactions with Lindsay.

Henry Goldstein, Lindsay's attorney, pleaded for his client, declaring that Mrs. Arnold lent the money to

MADDOO ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING, FACES TERM IN PRISON

Traveling 51 Miles an Hour to Make Dinner for Lawyers When Halted.

MRS. FRANCES S. HALL, WHO DEMANDS RIGHT TO FACE MURDER JURY

125TH ST. CROWDS SEE THIEF CHASE IN GEM ROBBERY

Man Breaks Window Containing $50,000 Jewels—Flees as Many Screams.

West 125th Street was put into turmoil at its most crowded hour to-day by a bold attempt to rob the jewelry store of Herbert Sargison on the northern corner of 125th Street and 7th Avenue.

Hundreds of persons heard the clink of breaking glass and looked to see a young man rather neatly dressed breaking through the plate glass window of the store, 8 feet high and more than 20 feet in width. There were shouts and screams half a block away to give the alarm. The man was using a mallet wrapped in a crumpled and soiled newspaper.

The spectators saw the man reach his hand through the hole he had made in the window and scoop up some of the jewels, which were arranged in a glass vitrine. Mr. Sargison told the police that his display was worth more than $50,000. Snatching what he could reach the man made off on Seventh Avenue.

Police Lieut. Heine and Detective Garvey came running to the shouting crowd from opposite directions. The fleeing man had almost a block start of them. They saw him turn east on 126th Street and fearing to lose him commanded the automobile of Lee Polakowski of No. 92 Nassau Street, and overtook the fugitive at Lenox Avenue.

The policeman took him to the West 123d Street station with a great crowd following. The prisoner and he were Rheinhold Koehhohl, a night cashier in a restaurant at No. 3559 DeKalb Street, White Plains.

Mr. Sargison said he missed three rings set with diamonds, three diamond-studded wrist watches and a diamond-encrusted cigar cutter from his window display. Nothing was found in the possession of the prisoner, but a cardbox in which a ring might have been mounted.

MRS. HALL'S INSISTENT PLEA TO FACE JURY IS BRUSQUELY REJECTED BY BEEKMAN

Widow Goes to Court House in Effort to Meet Attacks of Mrs. Gibson, but Somerset Prosecutor Balks Her—"Mule Woman" Questioned Almost Two Hours.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)
SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 28.—At the very close of the investigation of the Somerset County Grand Jury into the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills nearly ten weeks ago on the Phillips farm, Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall made an appeal at the door of the Grand Jury room for a chance to defend herself from the acknowledged suspicion that she was implicated in the shooting of her husband and the choir singer and the slashing of the throat of Mrs. Mills.

Her plea, made by her presence and by the application of her counsel, former Assistant District Attorney Timothy Newell Pfeiffer of New York, was brusquely denied by Asaiah Beekman, Prosecutor of the Pleas of Somerset, who has been working with Special Prosecutor Wubur A. Mott designated by Attorney General McCann to take over the Hall-Mills case.

Mrs. Hall, with her closest friend, Miss Sallie Peters, daughter of the Rev. John P. Peters of New York, and Mr. Pfeiffer, walked unmolested into the rotunda which has been guarded by State troopers against all those upon whom subpoenas had been served. Mr. Pfeiffer, as he passed the guard was asked if any of his party had subpoenas. He shook his head negatively.

Mrs. Hall seated herself at the door of the Grand Jury room. Miss Peters took a book from under her arm and began to read. Mr. Pfeiffer watched the Grand Jury door.

Mr. Beekman came out to tell the State troopers to bring Mrs. June Gibson from his office, where she had been sequestered from the other witnesses to the Grand Jury room.

"Will you see me now, Mr. Beekman?" asked Mr. Pfeiffer, springing up and walking toward him.

"No," said Mr. Beekman, frowning and with decidedly hostile emphasis, "I will not see you."

The Somerset Prosecutor turned on his heel and went back into the Grand Jury room. His head made it obvious that he and Mr. Mott would resist to the utmost any effort to get the Grand Jury to grant the persistent request of Mrs. Hall that she be allowed to waive immunity and testify.

As Mrs. Gibson was taken into the Grand Jury room Mrs. Hall gave her a casual sideways glance which was without marked curiosity, though it is the first time she has knowingly had an opportunity of looking at her accuser. Mrs. Gibson did not apparently know of Mrs. Hall's presence in the Court House.

Mrs. Gibson was in the Grand Jury room longer than any other witness who has been examined. She emerged two hours, less ten minutes, after her entrance and went to Mr. Beekman's office to get her wraps. As she came out her veil was drawn down over her face. County Detective George Totten took her by the arm and led her to a county automobile, while State Troopers kept any one from approaching them.

Passing Mrs. Hall at arm's length, Mrs. Gibson did not so much as glance at her, though Mrs. Hall eyed the farm woman narrowly. Mrs. Gibson's eyes were filled with tears and her lips before she pulled down her veil were tremulous. The Grand Jury adjourned for lunch five minutes after Mrs. Gibson was excused.

Mr. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Hall and Miss Peters rose as though to join them in leaving the building. A trooper interfered and asked them to stand back until the jurors had left the building. Mrs. Hall smiled as though in recognition of one of two of the jurymen. There was no response in kind from any of them. It was announced that one of two more witnesses would be called after lunch but that under no one of them.

In the restaurants and on the street corners there were emphatic expressions of feeling that the uninvited presence of Mrs. Hall at the Court House might prejudice the Grand

Flyer Writes on Sky Above City 'Hello, U.S.A.' in Letters Mile High

Scores of Thousands See Captain Turner Give First Exhibition Here of Aerial "Penmanship."

The most beautiful exhibition of airplane flight that New York ever saw was presented over Manhattan soon after twelve o'clock to-day by Capt. Cyril Turner in a plane equipped for "sky-writing."

In a pure white De Havilland plane that glided in the sunshine Capt. Turner did his first writing over New York. He wrote "Hello, U.S.A." in letters a mile high. The letters were written in a blue "surface" on which he wrote.

First in letters a mile high Capt. Turner wrote the word "Hello." Then a neat comma, and "U. S. A." The last three letters must have been nearly two miles high, and the whole writing was set probably 2,000 feet above the ground.

So still was the air that the legend remained legible for several minutes after it had been written. Then the plane went far up town and repeated its message over the Hudson where other thousands watched.

It was the first time that New York had seen this kind of "sky-writing." The "white ink" used is a smoke generated by a chemical composition invented by Major Jack Savage of London.

At the time of the Victory Parade in London the word "Victory" was thus written at night, in a luminous, phosphorescent smoke, by Capt. Robert Schofield Wood, then of the Royal Air Force, now a member of The Evening World's editorial staff.
